The Environmental and Cultural Development during the Bronze Age in the Southern Urals

Frankfurt, 07.03. – 09.03.2013

Excavations at Kamennyi Ambar/Olgino, Russian Federation

The Conference will present the results of the research project on the Bronze Age in the Trans-Urals, which has been carried out jointly by the Goethe-University Frankfurt/Main and the Russian Academy of Sciences in Yekaterinburg, to an international academic public.

Funded by the German Research Foundation since 2009, this interdisciplinary project has attained important and consequential results. With the multi-academic character and the international colleagues involved in research, the goal of the conference is to reconsider and redefine the ecological and cultural parameters which would encompass some aspects of the daily life, environment and economy in the Southern Urals during the Bronze Age.
