Bern, 23 April 2015

The Philosophisch-Historische Fakultät of the University of Bern is inviting applications for an

Assistant Professorship in Middle Eastern Studies

with special emphasis in Social Anthropology, Social or Political Sciences

at its Institute for Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies

The appointment will take effect from 1 February 2016. It is limited to four years with a possible extension of two years subsequent to positive evaluation.

Candidates are required to have a Habilitation thesis or equivalent qualifications. They should be engaged in innovative research and be prepared to cooperate with representatives of other disciplines and institutions. Their independent teaching duties involve four to six hours per week of Lectures in the relevant Bachelor and Master Degree Courses. The University of Bern is committed to equal opportunities in employment, in particular to increasing the number of women in senior academic positions. Women are therefore encouraged to apply.

Applications giving details of qualifications, experience, specific areas of teaching offered, and details of external funding, together with a CV should be sent by e-mail to:
