The Endless Frontiers: Geography and the Geopolitical Transformation of Modern China

Ideas associated with geopolitics have circulated in China for much of the twentieth century, entwined with a broader discourse on science and modernity. In this talk, Dr. Shellen Xiao Wu, author of Empires of Coal (Stanford, 2015), examines one facet of the historical roots of geopolitical discourse in China by connecting it to the global circulation of ideas on agricultural development, land settlement, and frontiers.
